French laureates 2018

Denis Gauvreau

GIP Genopole, Director of International Affairs

The Genopole is the most important French biocluster. It currently develops its relations with other European bioclusters in order to:

- /// Keep informed on the best practices in terms of management and development of bioclusters;
- /// Establishing direct partnerships between laboratories at the European level.

Sabine Cotreaux

Université Paul Valéry Montpellier 3, Head of Partnerships in research and valorisation department

- /// This department aims at valorising humanities and social sciences. Beside ensuring a scientific watch, it supports the development of projects dealing with new economic models and innovations.

Francis Bertrand

Pôle de compétitivité DREAM Eau et milieux, Director

DREAM supports economic actors in the Loire basin through three axes:

- /// Diagnosis, monitoring, environmental information systems on water resources and aquatic environments;
- /// Engineering of water resources and water environments;
- /// Alternative treatments of water and soils.
